HIGH RES AUDIO

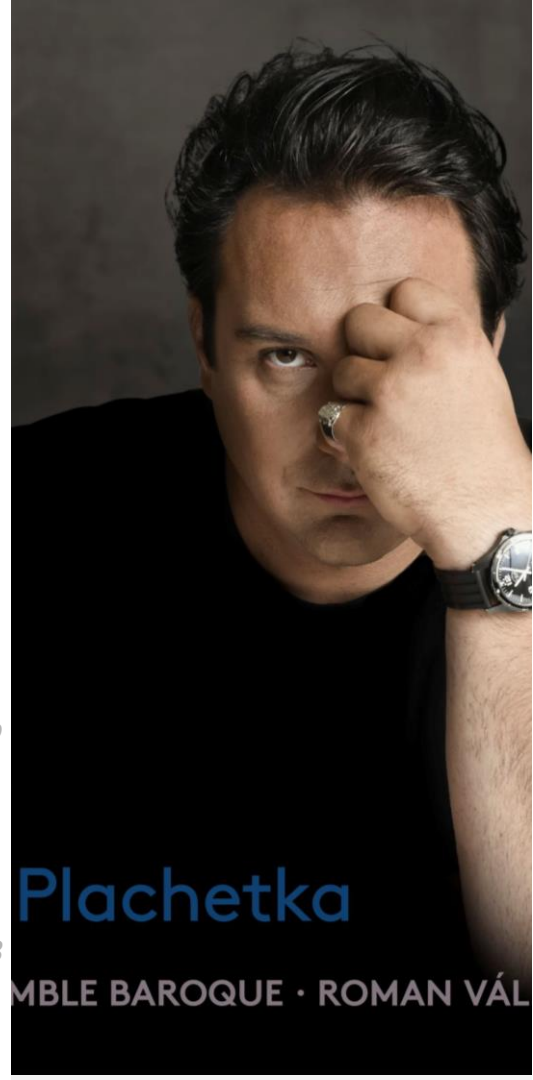

Adam Plachetka has a wide-ranging voice, from profound bass to quite bright baritone. He can use his flexible, agile voice dramatically, without audible pressure or strain. This also allows him to give his best creatively, with characterful differentiations of the figures. The Czech Baroque Ensemble accompanies the singer powerfully on a high level.

The high quality of the Czech Ensemble Baroque under Roman Válek, meanwhile, is evidenced in a couple of ouverturs, the familiar Figaro, plus a powerful account of Salieri's dramatic introduction to La grotto.
